Mason Mission Statement
Mission-Who we are and why we do what we do
A public, comprehensive research university established by the Commonwealth of Virginia in the National Capital Region, we are an innovative and inclusive academic community committed to creating a more just, free, and prosperous world.

Mason Game Design Mission Statement
The Mission of the Computer Game Design Program at George Mason University is to prepare students for employment and further study in the computer game design and development field, doing so with a curriculum designed to reflect the gaming industry’s demand for an academically rigorous technical program coupled with an understanding of the artistic and creative elements of the evolving field of study.

Course Overview
This course is a lab companion to GAME 330. In this lab, students will complete several atomic Unity exercises in order to acquaint them with various Unity features and increase their fluency with the engine. This lab course also serves as a work space for group work that is assigned in GAME 330.

Student Learning Objectives
Upon completion of this course, students will have completed various implementation tasks in Unity including, but not limited to:

- Configured dialog in JSON files
- Created simple character behavior with vector arithmetic
- Saved and loaded data from a file
- Implemented a double jump
